Hello all,

I've created this thread for Canadian Express Entry and outstanding FSW 2014 applicants since the previous thread became too long and has now been closed. I've also pasted a PDF link below which details the step by step instructions to apply for the Federal Skilled Workers Program via Express Entry.

<https://drive.google.com/file/d/0B4gWGgP8Vy5ISjFoaC01ZUtOaTg/view>

In order to apply for Express Entry via FSW you need to first have a minimum of 1 year full time (30 hrs a week) or 2 years part time (15 hrs a week) skilled work experience which falls under NOC code A,B or O. Check for your NOC code below:

<http://www.cic.gc.ca/english/immigrate/skilled/noc.asp>

Next take your IELTS General test.

Then evaluate your degree or credentials via WES Canada (the best option). See link below:

<http://www.cic.gc.ca/english/immigrate/skilled/noc.asp>

After doing the above, to find out if you've qualified you need to score a minimum of 67 points out of 100 in the FSW grid. Calculate your score below:

<http://www.cic.gc.ca/english/immigrate/skilled/apply-factors.asp>

Now that you've qualified, you can go ahead and complete your Express Entry profile via the link below:

<http://www.cic.gc.ca/english/immigrate/skilled/profile.asp>

Other things you must have:

Reference letters to verify the work experience you're claiming points for in the specified format below:

Written on company letterhead.

Signed by the responsible officers/supervisor.

Have the printed name and job title of the responsible officer/supervisor beneath the signature.

Show the company's full address, telephone and fax numbers, e-mail and website addresses

Stamped with the company's official seal (if applicable)

The letter must include 5 things:

Your job title.

The dates of your employment (ideal format: DD/MM/YYYYY).

Your salary per year (or month).

Your average hours per week.

A detailed list of your employment duties.

Next you need to provide police certificates from all the countries you've resided in for 6 months and above since you were 18 years. See link on how to obtain PC from various countries below:

<http://www.cic.gc.ca/english/infORmation/security/police-cert/index.asp>

Then you need to provide proof of funds for you and/or your family:

Number of Family Members Funds Required
(in Canadian dollars)
1 $12,164

2$15,143

3$18,617

4$22,603

5$25,636

6$28,913

7 or more$32,191 (I've updated the funds requirement)

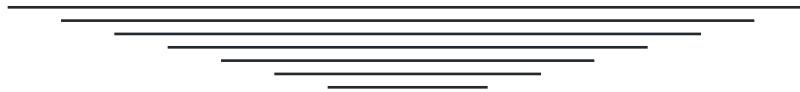

Note: Birth certificates are no longer required for applicants but are only now required for your child/children.

Wishing you the best of luck  `img src="https://www.nairaland.com/faces/smiley.png" alt="smiley" border="0" class="faces">!`

blockquote>I read this thread from Page0 - Page500, lol. Yes, I did. Was quite fun. Besides the congrats people kept passing around, it was interesting to also see people who came into the thread completely clueless turn master and provide excellent responses to questions. Many even went on to get PPR.

Anyways, I managed to collate some of these responses from Page0 - Page100. I am sure some of these responses will be useful to those who visit this thread and are still quite clueless.....until they go on to become masters too and get PPR!  `img src="https://www.nairaland.com/faces/smiley.png" alt="smiley" border="0" class="faces">`

For the dude that passed the ielts that is complaining bitterly, please be thankful to God.

I have written ielts 7 times. My journey started since 2015. My Wes has been ready since then, but because of age and ielts, I have been falling short. I wrote ielts and got moderate score. I didn't know what was required then, since then, it has been a battle for me. My last 3 scores were 8,7.5,7,6... 7.5,7.5,7.5,7... 7.5,8,7,7..after the 6th one in June, I swore I was done with this dream. I had sunk so much money into this. I have gone to dubai to write celpip, went to dubai again for new brunswick info session, spent money 2ice on SINP and all to no avail. I was frustrated and devastated. July, I told my spouse to let me try ielts one more time. Even thou she didn't want to see me hurt again, she let me have my way. As for her she was done. She wanted the dream closed and buried. I don't blame her. So I paid and decided to change venue, this time I went to Ibadan, meaning I was spending more again. Then something changed. I prayed a lot about it. For catholics amongst us, please pray the prayers for exams to St Joseph of Cupertino. I went into the hall, did my best and left. I couldn't even beat my chest about my performance. I have been humbled by ielts. But I kept on praying. I am not going to fail the 7th time. In between that time, a stranger in Lere2017 on this platform came into my life. She needed something from me. I actually wasn't in the mood to talk to her (reply her pm) but I did. We got talking and I told her my story. She was touched and she also truly prayed for me seriously. She will send me messages almost everyday telling me how much I was in her prayers and letting me know all is well. Yesterday midnight was the most awkward time of my life.. From 12 am till 7 am this morning, I was refreshing ielts website to check my result. The fear and panic was too intense. When I didn't see anything, I decided to go to their office to pick up my result.. That drive was filled with swallowing stone like saliva. On the bridge, I decided to refresh it again.. My result was there. My soul left my body and my eyes became blurry. I didn't know what I was reading but I knew I was reading.. L-9, R-8,S-8,W-7

I felt water swell up in my eyes. I understood what it is to look for something within your grasp and yet not have it. I am still basking in this euphoria so I can't real explain my ordeals. So please if you have it on a platter of gold, don't come here to rub it in on people that are going through a lot of even have a slice of what you have. For me the journey starts soon. I now have 450 points. I pray we all get to the promise land. Thank you @lere2017 I appreciate you. That's the beauty of this thread. Goodluck to everyone. I apologise for the long post and misspellings.

What a glorious CRS cut off score. I spent close to 6months on 433 with my first EE profile searching for ITA but it wouldn't come src="https://www.nairaland.com/faces/grin.png" alt="grin" border="0" class="faces">

Congratulations to all our new ITA holders, yimiton, dammiehar, XX01, et al. I know you guys expect to get speedy processing of your eAPR to PPR and so I've decided to help you with a few advice from my own experience. My timeline from AOR to PPR is just 46days which is quite impressive and something I'd wish for you guys to replicate. Now my advice to you goes as follows. Brace up its gonna be a long read

1. Getting ITA is a big deal but it's not so much of a big deal if u don't package your application well and it gets rejected. So use only 24 hours to celebrate dis ITA after which you have to settle down, snap out of the euphoria(you are not in Canada yet src="https://www.nairaland.com/faces/grin.png" alt="grin" border="0" class="faces">) and focus on submitting your eAPR without making any costly error that may mar your chances.

2. Even though we know that ultimately d divine controls the speed of every application yet you must do your utmost best in packaging your application carefully. As much as you can, get the documents in d format specified by CIC. Start now to disturb your bankers for the reference letters and your employers for the work reference letter. From my experience, you save d VO time and make their work easier when you submit documents in the recommended CIC format and they reward that with a fast processing.

3. PCCs are very vital and you should know by now what PCCs you need to provide. To be on the safe side any country you have spent a cumulative period of 3-4 months from when you were born till now just start now to process your PCC from them. VOs are very unforgiving with PCCs and sometimes they interpret the laws around PCCs in ways we can't truly understand. If you are like me that have never enter international flight before (i.e no travel history) then you are safe but for all the ajalas in the house, the chicken has come home to roost  `img src="https://www.nairaland.com/faces/grin.png" alt="grin" border="0" class="faces">`

4. Do not be in a hurry to get AOR, thereby rushing to submit. Take your time to ensure that you include every document in your checklist and in the right file format. Always cross check that your uploads are still intact even at the point of submission. It's not really by AOR but by how fast you move from AOR to PPR. Some July AOR peeps are already with PPR while we still got some April AORs languishing in IP1. So don't let the race to get AOR get to you.

5. Avoid ADRs. If it means waiting till the final week of your 90 precious days it's safer to wait it out and submit your application with that document you know will be requested. ADRs have a way of unnecessarily delaying the movement of your file. The best time to send CIC documents is before AOR so be proactive enough to prevent anything that will make them ask after. For example if you know you have been refused visa to some country, nothing stops you from filling a schedule A form proactively even before it is asked.

6. Use your LOE very well. The LOE is a powerful weapon that you must use very well to your favour. If you do an unbiased self assessment of your application, you will note the areas where your application appears to be weak. It's almost likely that the VO will come to this same conclusion as you. That's where a good LOE does wonders. You can use your LOE to politely explain and provide further detail to the VO. What you are actually doing is subtly allaying his doubts about this weak part of your application. This helps the guy to make a favorable decision on your case. The trick to writing a good LOE is being honest, polite and MOST IMPORTANTLY attaching a document to buttress your point or as evidence. Also you can write as many LOEs and attached documents to each even though there is one placeholder for LOE. That's where your PDF merger comes in. Merge all the LOEs into one single file and attach.

7. Raising CSEs is a bad, bad thing! Avoid anything that will also make you to start disturbing your application midway after AOR by having to raise a CSE. Examples are getting married, adding a baby etc. Though most times these stuffs are beyond our control but as much as you can try to avoid entering such situations because it will delay your application. If you know you want to marry that man/woman then make the decision and get married already even before you secure ITA. I've seen some people's application getting delayed because they have to include spouse. If you r expecting a baby and your due date is before the 90days post ITA period,its best you wait for the child and include him before AOR. This exactly was my case. I had ITA Apr 12th and my wife's EDD was May 12th. I decided to wait for the baby. I made every arrangements for his passport with the immigration agent(the guy thought I was crazy trying to do passport for a child yet unborn ), but alas baby came early on May 5th. My son got his passport May 12th or so and we got AOR June 19th.

So my point is as much as we can control these events let's try our best.

8. Finally just keep praying as though everything depends on your prayers but not your work and try not to be overly anxious. Who anxiety EPP sef.

I wish you guys a smooth PPR journey from here on..

Congrats, Zandora. For those of us that are landed immigrant we 'll like to receive tips on what facilitated your securing job within few months...will be glad to ask some questions, if you wouldn't mind my email is bleessjiboye@yahoo.com. or you could send me email or give me your email or better still share the tips with the whole house.....even those still awaiting nomination from CIC may learn and be informed ahead. Thank you. /blockquote> blockquote>Thanks for your message, of course I'll share my tips so here they are:

Your choices - Firstly I had already made up my mind that I wasn't going to do menial jobs immediately I landed and gave myself 7 months until I started looking at other avenues. The reason is that say you get a low skilled job working at McDonald's for example just to get the Canadian experience or to make ends meet before you finally secure your dream job, it will be almost impossible to land your dream job after. Why do I say this? You can apply for a job today and get called to attend an interview as early as the next day if shortlisted. Now if you've already taken up a menial job, what time would you have to attend the interview bearing in mind that if you're new to a job it's almost impossible for you to get any time off? How many excuses would you then be ready to give your new employer to take time off to attend your interviews? Another thing is that by the time you get home after work most of the time you'll be very tired and won't have time to start looking for the jobs in your field to apply to since most of those menial jobs are quite demanding. Finally, once you take that menial job and your working environment is very conducive, your manager very nice etc, you'll almost certainly become too comfortable and therefore end up being stuck in a dead end job before you know it.

Your resume - Your resume has to be in the Canadian format, in fact this is a must! You can look up Canadian format resumes online or pay one of those Canadian recruitment websites to clean up your resume for you (my friend got rejected and was told it was because of the grammatical errors on his resume). Furthermore, get rid of the countries on your resume. Sadly in this day and age people still discriminate, so once they see an experience is not from Canada but from a 3rd world country like Nigeria they'll be very quick to judge. If you've got the skills trust me they'll contact you and then ask where the company you worked for was located and if they like you they'll take you. Trust me, I can't count how many times interviewers told me they had never heard of First Bank.

Your Accent - Believe it or not this is a deal breaker, I didn't believe it before until I saw it for myself. A friend of mine told me and another friend about a job opening so we applied for the job. A few days later I got a call from the HR of that company asking me a few basic questions, then he booked me in for an interview on the spot. Excitedly I called my other friend to ask if he ever got the call and if he too was to attend an interview. He told me that he got a call but the HR guy didn't book him in for an interview but instead said he'd contact him later (he never did). I then asked my friend what he said to the HR guy on the phone and he said "nothing oh!, I only said elo, oo is this", I just knew there and then it was because of his accent. Now my accent was never perfect, in fact it took me a while to stop pronouncing ask as aks. I'm not saying you must have phonetics, just be able to pronounce your words clearly without any 'h' or any factor. It might be hard but it's achievable.

Your Experience - Whatever is on your resume would be the job you'll be shortlisted for. So if for example you worked in customer services then you should apply for a customer service job. If you worked in a bank as cashier then you should apply for a teller job to maximise your chances of being selected. If you are a cashier applying for a sales or any other role it'll be very difficult to get the job. So my advice, if you have experience in a job you didn't like doing, put it on your resume then when you get the same job here work for 6 months and change departments. There's lateral movements in many companies here, in fact companies that are looking to fill vacancies hire internally before going externally.

The Interview - I flunked my first 3 interviews because one of the reasons was that I was always frowning like I was attending a frowning contest. When I was in Naija I landed my jobs by frowning and speaking viciously. Unfortunately I thought this would work here but how wrong was I. It was after my 3rd interview that I then went to carry out some research and found that Canadians are one of the friendliest people and like when people appear friendly and chatty. So on my 4th interview I planted the fakest smile I could muster, jeez I was smiling at every and anything so it was no surprise when I progressed to the next stage of the interview.

How to answer interview questions - In total I've attended about 10 interviews (all good roles in financial institutions). Wasn't successful in 4 of them, got 2 job offers and progressed to the next stage in the remaining 4 but cancelled after I accepted one of the offers. Around my 4th interview I did some proper research and realised I was answering questions wrongly. Firstly all the companies asked some repeated questions which were: Tell me about yourself? Give me 3 strengths and 1 weakness? Give me an example of when you worked in a team? Why XX company and why this role? You may look at the questions and think it's easy to answer them, wrong! There's actually a way to answer these questions effectively which is:

- Tell me about yourself: You need to use the EES approach which is Education, Experience and Skills. So you should talk about your education from your highest degree, then your experience from the most recent, then the skills you've acquired over the years (hint: you need to look at the skills they require from the Job posting and mention some of them).

- Give me 3 strengths and 1 weakness: If you just list them then you're making a big mistake. You have to mention each one and then give an example. Therefore you could say 'I'm very proficient in the use of Microsoft office suites, for example in my previous job I used Microsoft Word to type out letters to our clients and PowerPoint to give presentations'. Then for the weakness question you have to talk about a weakness you previously had and you've now worked on and how you worked on it.

- Give me an example of when you worked in a team: Talk about how you worked in a team, saw challenges, how you were able to overcome the challenges and the result.

- Why XX company: Check out the about us section on the company website. Also always talk about diversity because many, infact all companies hire ppl from various backgrounds as a policy. Each time I tell them I would want to work for them because they're very good at hiring people no matter the background they come from they always have this big smile on their faces and nod their heads affirmatively, they love it!

- Why this role: Talk about the previous experience you had in this role and how you loved it.

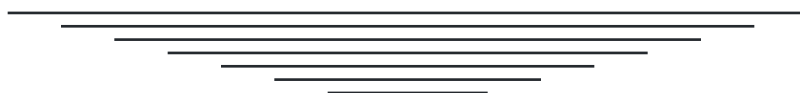

These are the most important things to ace a job in your field.

One important advice to those who are yet to arrive, don't believe those people who tell you that you won't get a job in your field. You only need to believe in yourself, have determination and trust in God. You're a skilled worker for a reason, so show the reason why you qualified as a skilled worker in the first place. At times you might be frustrated by rejections as I did but the biggest mistake you'll make would be to give up. I'm not saying that everyone who arrives would get a job in their field, but majority should.

I'm still going to take some certifications so I can transfer to another dept in my bank and in a higher level.

I apologise to the people who may think I'm taking up space by my posting as this thread is for people seeking advice for the FSW preparation but I just thought this might help a few people./blockquote>.

Long post alert!!

Although my result is not 100% perfect, below were My IELTS strategy, tips, materials used, etc.

Listening band score 8.

1. Wrote all answers in capital letters as advised here.
2. watched ieltsliz YouTube videos on listening.

3. Practiced listening for a month using Cambridge IELTS 1-12.

During my rigorous practice, I noticed I fail a lot of questions with option answers. To tackle this I used time to check previous questions and time to check sections with this highly paraphrased section to understand the question in the section as well as go through all the option answers I.e I checked questions and answers well before speaker started talking. Thank God I did this cos my exam turned out to have many of it while I missed questions 1 and 2.

Reading band 8.5 score tips.

1. Watched ieltsliz videos and started practice with academic reading. In few days and with access to numerous GT reading in my downloaded Cambridge ielts 1-12, I focused on GT reading and realize it is simpler than academic.

2. Wrote all answers in capital letters as advised here and verified in IELTS materials.

3. Wrote answers exactly the way I saw them in passages. I.e. Except for true/false type, I didn't think about or cram the spelling, I just simply lift it from passages.

4. Practiced for a month alongside listening and ensure I timed myself.

Speaking band 7. Started practice very late about 7 days to the exam.

1. Watched series of band 8 and 9 videos on YouTube.

2. Saw some ieltsliz video on speaking but it made me feel overwhelmed and scared because exam was near. However, the only video that suppressed the speaking fear for me is a YouTube speaking video by E2 Language. The video was an eye opener, after it my fear disappeared.

On exam day, my cue card was about something I went early for. When I saw the question, I couldn't remember anything than the exam. Yes! I spoke about arriving early for the speaking exam because I live far and can't afford to pay for another exam if I miss the session. My examiner smiled when I said it was the exam I arrived early for.

Writing band 7 score. I wish I can challenge the score but no need.

Practice: I Wrote some essays and letters as provided in ielts 1-12 and gave to a friend who studied English to correct and give me feedback. Browsed ieltsbuddy writing tips and understanding essay task. However, I was still scared till around 12am on exam day after I read some ielts responses and examiners score and comment as contained in one of my Cambridge ielts materials. Reading the sample responses and score and comment made me understand what I really need to write.

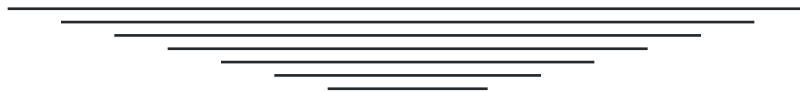

On exam day: letter was about writing to a friend for picture you took together during holiday but can't get it anymore. While essay was on rubbish dumping on the street and villages, problem associated with the dumping, and solution to the problem caused by the menace.

By analysing the sample responses overnight, I realize in my essay I was to discuss problems caused by improper waste disposal and solutions to the problems. I also concluded the solution is to the problem and not to improper refuse dumping. I have a number of vocabulary that helped paraphrase the words and sentences due to a project I am writing on waste management in Lagos. Also, since I read that IELTS examiner are interested in pattern of writing and not trueness of example, I gave an example of cholera outbreak in Lagos in 1999 caused by bacteria contamination of pipe borne water that passed through a community waste dump site.

Thank you all for the tips and advises. I hope someone find this useful.

Awaiting ECA. It shall end with praises..

Hahaha. Can't stop laughing. I guess Canadianfly has outed me already. Yes, people could say I'm "nerdish/geekish". Maybe  src="https://www.nairaland.com/faces/smiley.png" alt="smiley" border="0" class="faces">

I'm an engineer anyways. And looking forward to getting this PR thing. I should have started long ago, but somehow my motivation (regarding PPR specifically) hasn't just been there. Maybe it's cos I feel way too comfortable where I am. Now sha. I'm pushing it.

Congrats to everyone on getting their IELTS score. Re-marking is definitely the way to go if you scores aren't enough. From my survey on this thread most scores are revised upward after remarking.

These are my tips on IELTS:

blockquote>As you know by now, IELTS has four components: Speaking, Listening, Writing and Reading.

As with any other language exam, the intent is to assess your language abilities, and since language involves all these components you have to do each in order to pass.

What are the useful tips when practicing?

Listening:

You should use IELTS websites available online for listening exercises. www.mini-ielts.com is a very useful tool. Similarly, there are useful listening exercises on youtube, e.g.

iframe class="youtube" src="https://www.youtube.com/embed/1vzxrUW-4TU" frameborder="0" allowfullscreen>/iframe> <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1vzxrUW-4TU>.

The idea is to practice as many times as possible in order to get a feel of the exam. You must not tire in your attempts at maximising your scores. But what do you want to do while listening in order to improve?

1. Make sure to guess the answers before the audio begins playing. When they say read questions 1 -5, etc. Read the questions and guess the answers. That way, you have an idea what's coming into the gap. Noun? Verb? Number? After several trials, you might be able to guess the correct answer before it's said (rarely happens though)

2. Put up a positive outlook before listening. Maybe even mock the speaker in your mind, or question their motives. Ensure you maintain a generally lively attitude while listening for answers. This makes sure you are not distracted by anxiety.

3. Listen for the answers! It's not really necessary to listen and understand the conversation. Of course, a general understanding is necessary. But a complete understanding is irrelevant.

4. Note that the answers ALWAYS come chronologically, i.e. they will say the answer to number 4 before they say the answer to number 5. So, once you get the answer for number 3, start listening out for the answer to number 4. And not just listen out for the answer, listen out also for the context.

If you use mini-elts.com very well and you get repeatedly good scores, then you should be able to get a 9 in the listening. That's simply because the tests on that site are a notch higher in difficulty than the tests on IELTS.

Reading

You can use the same website for reading exercises. Practice is of course also key here. Make sure to practice often. What steps should you take to improve?

1. The answers often, but not always, come chronologically on the reading tests. So, if you find the answer to number 4, you may need to look a little higher up in the comprehension to find the answer to number 3. If you are pretty sure that the questions are coming in chronologically, then don't expect to find the answers to question 5 below that of question 6.

2. Read the questions first before reading the comprehension. And if you can, just scan the comprehension for the answers while reading only lightly.

3. One major thing on the main IELTS exam is that the question is ALMOST ALWAYS a paraphrase from the comprehension. So, look for answers in the comprehension that are also paraphrases.

4. Be careful with absolute words such as always, most, all, never, etc. Once you see this in the "TRUE, NOT GIVEN, FALSE" sections, look twice and be sure you are choosing the correct answer.

Speaking

For speaking, you can use YouTube mostly. There are a lot of speaking assessments on YouTube where candidates are assessed by examiners and the corresponding IELTS score is stated. I'm sure you'll find many of them useful. Just type in the search bar "IELTS speaking". This is one of such iframe class="youtube" src="https://www.youtube.com/embed/xajnJJ76S94" frameborder="0" allowfullscreen>/iframe>

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xajnJJ76S94&t=307s

Similarly, you want to practice some speaking in the confines of your home. BE familiar with terminologies to use in the areas of Food, House, Hobbies, Cooking, Work, Your Hometown etc, which almost always make up chunks of Part 1 IELTS speaking. There is a YouTube channel called "Oxford Online English" which went into a lot of details about it. This is one of their videos:

iframe class="youtube" src="https://www.youtube.com/embed/qb-m3tEW_as"
frameborder="0" allowfullscreen>/iframe>
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qb-m3tEW_as Check it out.

Writing

Well, for writing you just wanna try your hand on a lot of writing samples. This site has a number of samples you can look at for comparison: www.ielts-exam.net

The chief thing to note with writing is that you need to learn how to organize your thoughts and then express them in paragraphs. You also need to put a template in your head, which you can follow. An example could be:

Paragraph 1

Introduction

My Opinion

Summary of First Reason and Second Reason

Paragraph 2

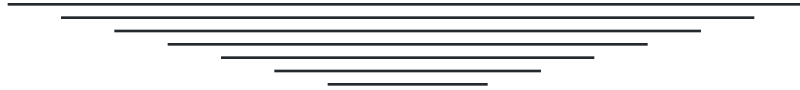

First Reason

Paragraph 3
Second Reason

Paragraph 4
Conclusion

I hope these help!</blockquote>.

I just want to apologise to you all for the silence. You know how stressful bank jobs are and by the time I get home I don't even feel like doing anything else except sleeping. Also, for some reason I was finding it very difficult to login because I couldn't remember my login details.

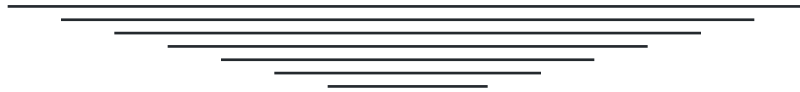

For everyone who has received their PR's I just want to say a huge congratulations!

For those of you who are still on the journey don't worry, you'll get there sooner than you know and in the end it'll be worth it.

Oh and one more thing, if you're already here in Canada and are still job hunting and your experience is in the financial services industry, let me know so I can give you some interview tips and tricks. Trust me, many of the interview questions they ask are constantly repeated.

Good luck!.

I am a silent reader of this thread and I have benefited immensely from the contributions here which is why I am motivated to give back especially because my case is peculiar so I hope it will encourage or help someone. please before I begin, I would like to encourage people to read the thread from beginning before coming to ask questions that have been flogged and over flogged on the thread. It makes the thread unnecessarily long which in turn discourages people who would have actually put in effort to start from the beginning and there are little important inputs within that would help someone which could be missed if one does not read through.

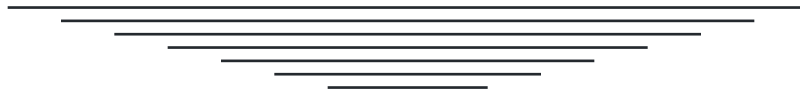

My degree is in law but my NOC is in management ." Iphie's "posts led me to use IQAS for my evaluation instead of the popular WES because an LLB is awarded more marks as professional degree which going through WES doesn't give. This boosted my CRS. I evaluated only my degree certificate. You do not need to evaluate law school Certificate.I don't have an LLM. my CRS score was 407 so I had to apply through Ontario. I received NOI in April, applied may 20th and got nominated June 26th with 600points which boosted my score to 1007. I don't have reference letter (which is a very important document in the express entry process) because the company I worked for was shut down. so in place of reference letter, I provided a letter (in form of a reference letter) written(typed actually) by me and notarized by a notary public stating everything that is required to be written in a reference letter. regarding the format of the letter, I started the letter in the form of an affidavit (I, Dolly Parton, hereby declare that...) and not like a proper formal letter with addresses. Also, I attached all my contract/employment letters which had my salary,job roles and position stated, income tax certificate, 6 pay stubs and my first and last bank statements showing salary deposits. Before applying for OINP (Ontario Immigration Nominee Program) please ensure that you request your duplicate ECA to be sent to OINP from whatever evaluation company you used. This will reduce any delay in processing your application. The process of requesting for duplicate ECA from IQAS got irritating cos they requested I send hard copies of my request form which cost me more because I used EMS express whom also did not deliver my documents on time (supposed to be 5 days but took up to 2-3 weeks). I was fortunate to get a reply from a better informed IQAS representative before EMS was able to deliver my duplicate request form to IQAS, that advised that I could send the requested application copies by fax which was received immediately. Why I said "better informed" is because prior to sending my documents through EMS, another representative had responded to my enquiry that IQAS doesn't receive faxed documents. About the fax, I used a free fax service I found online gotfreefax.com. I was able to fax the documents for free to IQAS. There are other online fax services you can use to send fax. All you have to do is scan your documents and send it through their fax link and it gets delivered to the fax machine. There are usually instructions on the websites/apps about how to get it done. (I love how much the internet has made life easier). Lateness in requesting your duplicate to be sent to OINP can delay your application. Recently, some applications have been processed within a week. I got ITA after the nomination last week. I think I have said all that needs to be said. More information on OINP human capital stream can be found on <http://www.canadavisa.com/canada-immigration-discussion-board/threads/oinp-ee-human-capital-priorities-stream-comprehensive-guide.396543/page-315>

After receiving nomination, OINP will deliver the nomination certificate to you through express mail. Mine arrived after 7 days of nomination. When filling my ITA online, I noticed there was no place for uploading the nomination certificate but had read somewhere that CIC usually requests for it. So what I did (which I read somewhere that others also do) was to upload the nomination certificate together with the LOE. My LOE also explained the reason why I don't have a reference letter and that my POF (treasury bill) is from my husband because the treasury bill statements are in his name. He also wrote a letter stating that he's giving me access to the funds which we uploaded to the POF section.

OINP is definitely expensive and cumbersome to apply for because they request for more documents than CIC did, but it can be done. Yes, I did it on my own without an agent. I understand that this application process can seem too much for some to manage themselves but I believe with patience and research, it can be done. Hope my post helps someone. Once again, I appreciate the people who contribute to this thread. God bless you abundantly..

Thanks to all you lovely people for the congratulatory messages, I know we will all testify soonest whether it's awaiting IELTS, awaiting AOR or PPR.

To all those worried about their submitted application or anything, don't worry and just leave all to God. I thought my application was messy and I scaled through with no ADR, nothing!

1. A bulk of my money entered my account after I got my ITA but I did not do gift deed or write any letter explaining the source of funds (timeline btw my ITA and AOR was about 3 weeks)

2. I only put the first page of each of my 6 month statement leaving all other pages behind (I did not quickly realize I could reduce it)

3. I did not write any LOE, did not attach any additional document or justify anything at all

4. My name is sometimes scattered. Like I'm known by d 2nd name in my passport so some of my documents only had my 2nd name and surname without the first name on my passport (I was advised to get an affidavit justifying this but I never did)

5. Although I had a valid US visa as at the time I applied, I was rejected about 7 years ago and I forgot to state it in my application.

6. I was in UK on vacation when I did and got my UK PC, I was later told that I should have done it after leaving the country and to urgently raise CSE which I never did

7. Plenty other things I thought were issues but can't state all now.

This is for those that have submitted and are worried about one thing or the other.

If you haven't submitted, PLEASE DON'T BE LIKE ME! I don't know why I was so stubborn, it wud save you a whole lot of worry knowing your application is detailed when it's in progress!

In my excitement I forgot to write my timeline.

Dear Family,

I just want to drop a few points to encourage someone this hour especially people with IELTS scores that didn't come out as expected.

So i started this journey since Aug 2015..i rushed to do IELTS Without much practice and i scored: LSRW: 7.5,6,8,7 and i hired David Cohen Law Firm paid 2000 USD but nowhere was i advised that my score is bad and i need to retake the IELTS. I figured that out on a thread like this that was closed. So Practically, i read the previous thread and have been reading this thread since it started from Page 0.

Dont be in a hurry, every step is a major step: Practice, pray and Plan, and Read....

I Retook the exam in April 2016, when i figured out the CRS draw kept going higher: Behold: it was the hardest test i ever came across this was after so many practice sessions on Youtube, my hubby scaled thru because he listens to rap music... the listening was terrible..so i understand if the exam is tough..the result was: LSRW: 7.5,7.5,7.5,6.5.... it was a terrible try i must say coupled with the fact that i was heavily pregnant.

I eventually lost the baby at delivery in May and i was devastated and numb for weeks...

But Guess what i bought a book in church: JOYCE Meyer: NEVER GIVE UP...That book quickened the fire within me in this terrible times and i made up my mind to re-write IELTS exam, my hubby felt it was the wrongest time to write an exam because of the situation surrounding but my spirit man was lit and on fire..I paid for another IELTS AND Practiced, rehearsed, like my life depended on it..Prayed like my life was going to end..JESUS Did it: AUG 2016 Result: LSRW: 9,7,7.5,7...My score went up to 465.. but the subsequent draws were high..

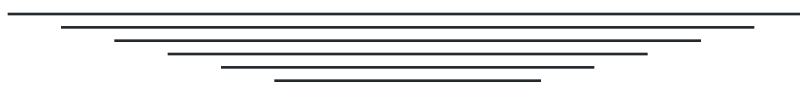

I kept faith alive...till Jan 4 when i saw dat the draw came down and i didn't get an ITA after contacting DAVID COhen law firm they said my profile expired a day before and my contract had expired that the contract was for a year, remember i contacted them in July 2015 because a family friend relocated his whole family to Canada some years back and advised me they were the best and anytime i plan to take such a step i should contact them.

I was furious sent a mail to the whole high ranking officials in the firm and how they were joking with my relocation plan.. apparently we were not on the same page .. They decided to give me a waiver to renew my profile in the POOL...

Jan 11th draw i got ITA.. They informed me..and said they will collect 1500USD to assist in compiling my documents and submit my application to avoid misrepresentation. I had already had enough of the firm and their poo.. so i told them i wont be continuing my application with them.

With the help of this amazing thread i was armed with information to submit a successful application.. which i did with my spouse.. We keep reading...Never GIVE UP.. Guys..see you all in Canada...

FEE PAYMENT

Once you have uploaded the documents, you have the option to make payment and submit your eAPR. Post ITA after clicking Continue, you will be asked whether you want to pay RPRF upfront, in case you have mentioned Yes and later want to modify it, you can do so by going to Modify Family Information which you can find in the menu bar.

Permanent Resident Application Fee: CAD 550 per applicant

Right of Permanent Resident Fee (RPRF): CAD 490 per applicant

You can make payment using credit card and debit cards provided international transactions are allowed on your card. Contact your bank to check the same.

MasterCard, Visa and Amex cards are accepted. Ensure that your bank has not put any transaction limit, contact your bank before using your card for payment. In case you do not have sufficient balance or credit limit, you can use your family member's or friend's card as CIC has no restriction on the same.

You will get Acknowledgment of Receipt (AOR) immediately after you make the payment.

THINGS TO NOTE

Police Certificate - If you already have nomination do not wait for ITA, apply for police certificate soon. For countries that you have already left, in case you do not have the police certificate, initiate the process for the same as well as some countries take time to issue you a police certificate.

Medicals - CIC has a list of empaneled clinics/hospitals where you need to get medical tests done. Check this link <http://www.cic.gc.ca/pp-md/pp-list.aspx>. The following basic tests and checks are carried out (If you have had any or have any medical conditions, you need to let them know and also carry any medical records that you have)

1. Blood
2. Urine
3. Chest X-Ray
4. Eye Sight
5. Blood Pressure
6. Height/Weight
7. Physical examination by physician

You will not be given the results of the tests, the clinic will upload it directly to CIC. You will be given an Acknowledgement Form which you need to upload as proof of medical exam. Please ensure all the information on the Acknowledgment Form is correct as per passport and that the category on your medicals is mentioned as Non-EDE/Worker. If you find any discrepancy, get it corrected then and there itself and get an updated Acknowledgement Form.

Digital Photo - The final frame size of the photo should be at least 35mm x 45mm. The photograph must show a full front view of the head and tops of shoulders. The size of the head, from chin to crown, must be between 31mm and 36mm. The physical dimensions in pixels must be at least 420 x 540. The final size of the image should not be less than 60KB. The file should be submitted in JPEG format.

Reference Letter - For previous employers, the letter obtained after you have left is good enough, unless and until you want to get a fresh letter or want to get the letter updated. For current employer as a rule of the thumb, get a fresh letter if the previous one which you got is older than 6 months. For other questions related to reference letter check this thread <http://www.canadavisa.com/canada-immigration-discussion-board/nail-the-challenge-of-getting-reference-letter-from-current-employer-t397796.0.html>

ECA, IELTS - There is no separate placeholder for IELTS and WES. So you can upload IELTS and WES along with educational documents.

Proof of Funds (POF) - Get latest and updated POF. Ensure you cover as much as information requested by CIC in the Bank Letter/Bank Certificate.

Letter of Explanation(LOE) - Though this is an optional document, please use it to your advantage to explain anything you feel the officer should know or consider while assessing your application.

Provincial Nominees(PNP) - If you are a provincial nominee would suggest you to submit copy of nomination certificate and Schedule 4 (IMM0008_4E) upfront along with LOE. Though these are not asked for when submitting eAPR, later you will be requested to submit Schedule 4.

Statutory Questions - In case you answer 'Yes' to any Statutory Questions, then explain the reason for the same in LOE and also submit Schedule A (IMM5669E) along with LOE. Though Schedule A is not asked for when submitting eAPR, later you will be requested to submit Schedule A.

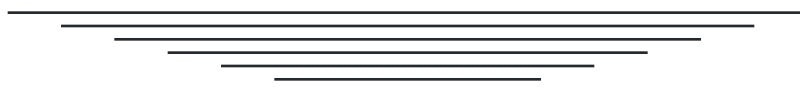

Document Size & File Format - All documents should be uploaded as PDF not more than 4MB, except for digital photo which should be in JPEG format and not less than 60KB. For each placeholder, it should be one PDF. If you have multiple pages, merge them into one PDF for each placeholder. If the file size exceeds 4MB, scan the documents with scanner settings at 100 dpi or less but ensure that the files are legible. You can also use online tools like Small PDF to compress, merge and split PDFs etc (<https://smallpdf.com/>).

Help/Instructions - If you have any doubt about the documents that needs to be uploaded, check the help, blue button (Instructions) next to the Upload File button

It's PPR!!!! This journey that started last year has come to an end with victory!!!

Started with IELTS February 2016 and then waited till I was done with msc in order to evaluate with WES. Done with WES September. Dear husband who's the PA had to write another IELTS in December cos we were trying to increase our CRS scores. Writing was 6.5 so didn't cut it. He wrote a third IELTS in February and again, writing was 6.5. We were getting depressed at this point so we requested for a remark and registered for a forth ielts. Remark came through in four weeks and writing was increased to 7.5!!

ITA came in April next day after ielts remark so my timeline :

AOR - April 30th

Medicals passed - June 21

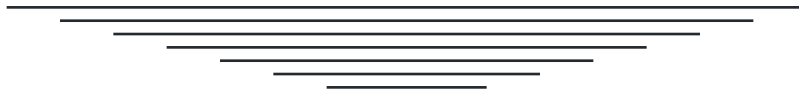

lp1 - June 22

lp2- July 19

PPR - July 24th

Sorry for the long post guys but for those still stuck in this IELTS hurdle, pls don't give up and don't relent. Just keep pressing on and you shall smile at the end..

Good day,

I like to share something interesting, though its a private mail,i however hope it will be of some benefit. Secondly, aside the information, its a good piece of writing. For those experiencing challenges in writing, look at the write-up below keenly, it is the kind of structure expected in our ielts writing- the paragraphs, the sentence structures(simple, compound, complex), commas, and fullstop.

[b]Dear Gary,

The advises already given are true but I will add some things as a resident in Canada at the moment. You may be able to take some better decision if you are ready to face some facts that are highlighted below (it may look lengthy because of some details because it may be of help to educate as many as may need the information, kindly bear with me):

1) Canada is a country filled with a lot of opportunities. It is a lot different from countries like UK and even America. The number of illegal immigrants here are very low so it is easier to get into the system. However, there is usually a gestation period for your investment to flourish. Accountants are doing great here. A major factor is where you reside, grace of God and luck as it is everywhere. Dont think of settling down in popular cities like Toronto. Im not saying the place is bad but you can try some developing provinces. In all, Canadians are one of the best people to relate with though they are strict on rules. No cutting corners. It is true you will face others who you are competing for thesame jobs here but you can have a great edge if you are ready to face the reality on time by getting any of the certification here.

2) Since the era of Enron, accounting profession had changed. There are lots of rules you must be able to know as a guide hence, you must get certification via CA, CMA or CGA. Even if you are partly certified, you can easily pick a good job. Not for Nigerians alone. Even Canadians, it is thesame. For those in Engineering field, especially those in Energy industry, you can get a job withing same month of arrival. It is not so with accounting. Canada believe in their own certifications. Even with 6 months diploma, you are better than some managers when you get a job here. The first rule is that you must think towards getting a certification here. That does not mean there are no exceptions but very few. Meanwhile, the moment you get certified here, you will surely pick very good job with very good pay. That is guaranranteed. They value their eduation here and sincerely, it is true.

3) However, if you have ACCA, you can get immediate certification as a CGA with your writting a course and you can pick a job faster here. The reciprocal MOU was just signed last year. When ICAN enter into mutual agreement, it was with CA, a body that requires you to be a Canadian citizen before you can be certified. Even when they seems to have changed, most people do not really relate with them. Most people join CGA and CMA. They all know ICAN. You can get some exceptions in their certification process to push you ahead. The accounting certification courses here are expensive because the benefits are enormous, but as a resident, you can get govt loan for any form of EDUCATION you do here. You will pay with great convenience.

4) Just like it took sometime for someone who came to Lagos before he can start working, it is also the same here and everywhere. It may not be something you get on the day you arrive here but you can start on a good job within a short time. The issue of menial job is not common here as in the other countries. No employer can exploit you here. Everyone is equally protected by law. If you accuse someone of racism, it may lead to jail if confirmed. Infact, when you prepare your resume here, you dont put things like age, place of birth, gender, etc. Even if your school indicates your counrty, with a good resume cum experience, they will call you. Most employment starts with your getting trhough an employment agency that has the jobs and link you to the employer. They are being paid for their services and when you perform in their tests, you are done. As an accountant here, your best tool is being good on excel. It is a prerequisite. Most of the agencies will test your proficiency on it.

5) You must be ready to sacrifice writing their exam even if it is to pass few courses. The moment you do that, you are on track. All jobs are regulated here. The moment you get some certifications, there is a minimum salary you can be paid. Meaning, nobody can demeaning or cheat you the way things seems to be in Nigeria where Chartered Accountants were Tellers in banks and even on contract jobs.

6) Government have a lot of programs including orientation here free of charge to assist an average immigrant to start life. They have some welfare benefits you are entitled to as a legal immigrant. With resident permit, so many benefits awaits you.

7) With my experience, I noticed that the citizens are placing some barries for people to enter their systems because as reasonable human being, if they dont, they will be sent parking from their land. They dont read so much here and when you come with `` plenty `` certificates as we do in Nigeria, without any barrier to slow you down a bit, you may outshine them hence they want you to proof your qualifications. The moment you are able to do that, no barriers again.

 If you have resident permit and you have a good job in Nigeria, come and settle your family first. Get as much reserve (savings) as you can then come and join up. Even if you are managing, still try and make provision for something to assist you before you complete any certification (average of 6 months). That was my own approach and i`m seriously better for it. Some living expenses here are a bit expensive especially accommodation. But for food and basic things to settle down like furnitures, beddings, TV, Fridge etc, you will get them FREE (It sound odd but true). Govt will supply you majority of food items you need for your first one year. You will only need to buy few things that have expiry dates like milk and bread. Many Nigerian are doing well here. I will advise you to link up with some of those who are here that you know to confirm some of my claims.

9) Education is free for the children until they enter University. You are even paid child care benefit monthly which may be close to some people`s salary in some Nigeria employments. Many that are here came for the future of their children and it all depend on you on what you felt. Those whose children schooled here dont face what a new immigrant faces on arrival. Their parent already planted them on the land.

10) The economy is improving at a great speed here after the meltdown. The discrimination people fear is not as much pronounced. Maybe because of where I am based, but you have all opportunities to succeed. You can also predict the level of possible progress of things as you get on here.

11) Nobody can like you more than you like yourself. The decision on what to do is purely yours after weighing the pros and cons. While some may feel good coming, some may not. However, most of those I know that came here, I dont think it is common to see anyone that want to run back to Nigeria. If your view is based on the fact that ``without pain, there may be no gain``, you may try it out. For me, I was doing well in Nigeria and here, by God`s grace, no regret for coming.

I wish you the best of luck[/b]..

Dear E-family, finally received the much awaited PPR!

I can't explain my joy.

It has been a very long journey. Entered the pool January 2016 with crs of 432(I think) and got Ontario nomination and accepted because the draw score was quite high then. We submitted Ontario application January our application was finally approved December 2016(one full year). We got ITA December and submitted our application January 2017. AOR 20th January. Got ADR February, submitted and since then status has been not applicable. Ordered GCMS and realized our application was been processed in London. When we completed six months we sent a mail(thanks to greetings for the sample), we got another ADR. This time requesting for military records because my husband mistakenly ticked yes to that NYSC related question. Thanks to ugoiyke79e who responded to someone who also had same issue, we submitted copies of nysc discharge certificate, nysc call up letter and a letter of recommendation from one of officer in charge of the military school (because he served as a teacher in the military school) and a LOE explaining our mistake and stating he didn't serve in military. After submitting, we sent another mail telling them we have submitted the documents they requested for and this afternoon, my husband got a mail for him to check his box and behold, PPR.

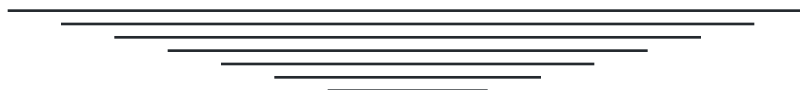

I thank God it all ended in praise.

This thread has been so informative and I thank everyone for their contributions. It is very very important to read as you will get answers even before you ask.

Like to acknowledge some people for their good work here. JesusDway, duppysho,vcole,zandora, 40manlappy, boldinc, ehrnie, mummyjaygirls(funny woman) and all others too numerous to mention. God bless you all.

PS. The PPR mail didn't indicate where to send passports to, is it strictly Accra? Am I to print the imm form and send alongside the passports?.

Hi Wunmi,

Let me help you.

You seem to really be getting things wrong.

The information your husband submitted to US Visa office has no correlation to what he will be submitting to IRCC.

Gosh, the kind of questions and worry you people generate on this platform is daunting.

Some speak as if they are the Chairman CIO Central Intake office.

Wunmi, relax, provide information asked by IRCC and be truthful. They are not going to ask US Visa office wetin Wunmi husband filled. They are separate entity. The only thing they share is Criminal record database and that is why they collect fingerprints

And for the person asking about legal name, my wife used her Maiden name in the application up to when we landed in Canada and also in all her documents. The marriage certificate alone was sufficient as proof of marriage. Shikena.

What else did someone ask, I am trying to remember.

Yea, you do not need any letter from your PFA stating you can access 25%. Simply print the statement and include in your application.

The way you people worry, one will think, IRCC are out to get you. Bear in mind, they also have a target of people that must enter Canada yearly, or why do you think they keep reducing the score threshold?

Key thing is, BE TRUTHFUL in your application. Don't try to be smarter than MR SMART. It is quite a simple and straight forward process.

Canada Awaits you.

For those of you married, just make sure you give her belle shortly before you land, It is free medical care 90 days after you land in all provinces except Alberta that is immediate.

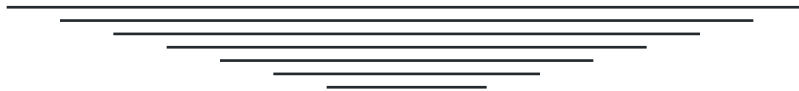

And the guy that is not yet married to his fiance, and wants to add her, wait and submit as single, when they request for your passport, they will tell you to notify them if your status has changed from Single Married Divorced and Separated.

They also give child support of up to 600 Dollars monthly to support your child, if you have 2, you get like 1100 dollars monthly. CDN o. before you start calculating how to born dozen. (Laughs).

Finally, Guys RELAX, apply and be truthful. Lying to an immigration officer is a serious offense.

Regards.
